Headteacher Message

Dear Parents and Carers,

Welcome back. I hope you had a good break with your children. We are looking forward to a very exciting summer term with plenty of sunshine (I'm an optimist!).

Can you remember the last time you read aloud to your child or children? If you can you may well be one of only 17% of parents that do this regularly. Yet recent research amongst 6 to 17 year olds suggests that this is something children love. There are so many good reasons for adults reading to children. When you read you're modeling how to read language. You pause at commas and full stops. Your voice inflection changes when you read questions or exclamations and you can show what you, a fluent reader, do when you come to a word you don't know. When you pick a challenging book that your children can't read on their own, you are exposing them to a wealth of new vocabulary words. This stretches a child's language development, particularly if you stop to talk about the meaning of these harder words. Reading aloud can get children hooked on a new author or series of books. Once a child falls in love with the story or author, it's hard to hold them back from reading it on their own. Plus, reading aloud gives kids a chance to explore genres and texts they wouldn't normally select. I have very fond memories of travelling through Spain as a child in the back of the car, with my mum reading a very exciting story to keep myself and my sister from murdering each other! It worked. In this day and age of electronic devices it is all too easy to occupy children by providing them with a tablet. But I firmly believe they would be missing out.

'Whenever you read a good book, somewhere in the world a door opens to allow in more light.'

Have a lovely weekend, Mr P Newbold

BOOK CLUB REVIEW

Kentucky Thriller by Lauren St John

Reviewed by: Bethan Wright

If you like the tingling feeling of a mind-twisting mystery, then this is the book for you! Laura, a soon to be super detective, loves to solve a mystery so when a star race horse gets stolen, Laura immediately steps in.

I absolutely love the part when Laura and Tariq find the hurt horse in the road, because it sets off the whole mystery really well and it makes you think. What are they going to do? What's going to happen next?

I recommend it to ages 10 upwards. I rate this book a solid 10/10 for its amazing twisting and turning story line!
